What 5 toolmakers started on 1954 in Besancon, developed over the last 6 decades into a company whose products are assembled today by almost all existing auto-makers.

Moving to a new facility in 1998 was the initial phase of a large investment program that provided scoder with a significantly larger production capacity (primary parts and assembly) and various new stamping technologies. A higher focus on Co-designing (integrating prototyping towards industrialisation development) enables scoder the capability to offer competitive and innovative process solutions to its clients (Tooling design and manufacturing). Association with r. bourgeois (www.rbourgeois.com) and its affiliates provides Scoder with advanced resources in ultra-precise tooling and material expertise.

scoder aims at maintaining a continuous and dynamic improvement of its manufacturing management through ISO/TS 16949/2009 certification.
